Noteable project:

Sheffield Hallam University: Jake brings dedication and collaboration to the project, fostering trust and ensuring high standards across the team

Favourite aspect:

Jake values the camaraderie among the team and expanding his knowledge across different aspects of the job.

Skill for life:

Jake has developed the ability to think ahead and act proactively, a skill that will serve him well throughout his career.

What's next?:

Jake is striving to become a qualified site engineer, building on the strong foundation he's already developed at GRK. His ambition and commitment are a testament to the opportunities available and the support that helps our team members achieve their goals.

Jake says:

Being an apprentice at GRK Civils has given me the opportunity to learn many different aspects of groundworks. It's rewarding to see how everything comes together on-site to create a high-quality project.

The hands-on experience and support from the team have been invaluable to my development. Thank you to everyone who has supported me.
